

THE WILDCAT CALL

Homecoming Week

A lot happened this homecoming week. The Booster Club held activities for all of the high school students to participate in. Some of the activities were laser tag, field days, movie nights, and a bonfire! We also had dress up days. Monday was Marvel Monday, Tuesday was Gender Swap Day, Wednesday was Holiday Day, Thursday was Throwback Thursday (relive your favorite childhood shows), and of course, Friday was Blue and White Day. There was also an assembly with activities for the H.S. class to play in. There was an amazing parade on Friday that the community took part in. The same day was be the football game. It was at 7:00 p.m. against Troy. The Lapwai community came and supported our Wildcats. Finally, the Homecoming Dance was Saturday at 9:00 p.m. and it ended at 12:00 a.m. The theme was Moonlight Masquerade. That was the rundown of homecoming! Hope everyone had a fun week!

Tech Talk!

For quite a while, technology has played a huge role in how we function as a society. We tend to use the knowledge from devices to help us navigate, calculate, socialize, and do many stuff an average human cannot.

Technology has been with the human population for a very long time, and it happens to grow and improve along with our newer generations. It would only make sense for our learning techniques to also grow and improve as well, or else school learning will seem to be pre-historic and less evolved than the outside life.

That being said, one question remains: why are cell phones so forbidden in classrooms? For one, our school is sometimes short on specific supplies like calculators and/or computers for studying. A ton of cell phones have useful apps like calculators for math, spell check for English, stop watches for P.E, and many more uses for any class period you may have. Hopefully in the future, our school can allow technology to help our students reach their full potential.

Student Spotlight

Titus Yearout is a freshman at Lapwai High School. One of his many hobbies are playing football here at Lapwai as a wide receiver. It's been a month and a few weeks into the school year and we've asked him how he's been liking it. According to him his freshman year has been going pretty good, and he has been doing his best to adjusting to the little changes. We also asked about his first experience at a homecoming dance and being involved in the homecoming shenanigans that the high schooler's go through. He said that he had a fun and good time throughout the week and he participated in the dress days and helped his classmates build their class float for the homecoming parade. He also said the dance was a blast and he can't wait to experience more fun at the upcoming dances. I asked what Titus wants to do in the future for sports and he says he wants to pursue his dream in winning a state title. That is all for Titus Yearout.
